

Forgot Why You Walked Into the Room?

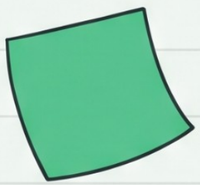

Misplaced keys. A name on the tip of your tongue. A week of “what was I about to do?” Everyday forgetfulness is common in midlife, and small, steady habits are a practical place to start.

The 5-Minute Memory Workbook is a six-week programme of tiny daily habits you can fit around a busy life. Each week adds one simple routine, with prompts, trackers and “if this, then that” planners to help it stick. No memory palaces. No gimmicks. Just five minutes a day.

- A 6-week plan: one tiny habit per week
- A self-check at the start and the end, so you can see your own progress
- Daily logs, trackers and weekly reflection pages
- Habit-stacking planners built around your real routine
- A plain-language page on when to talk to a doctor

A practical habit workbook, not medical advice.
